Overview

Finch (Who), exposed by Samaritan for one day (When), must escape across New York (Where) by stealth and his team's firefights (How), ending captured and resolved to destroy Samaritan (What).

Finch is killed or taken before the scripted capture; Reese or Shaw is downed in a firefight.

After Sotto Voce (5.09): Shaw's return exposes Finch; Elias is an ally.

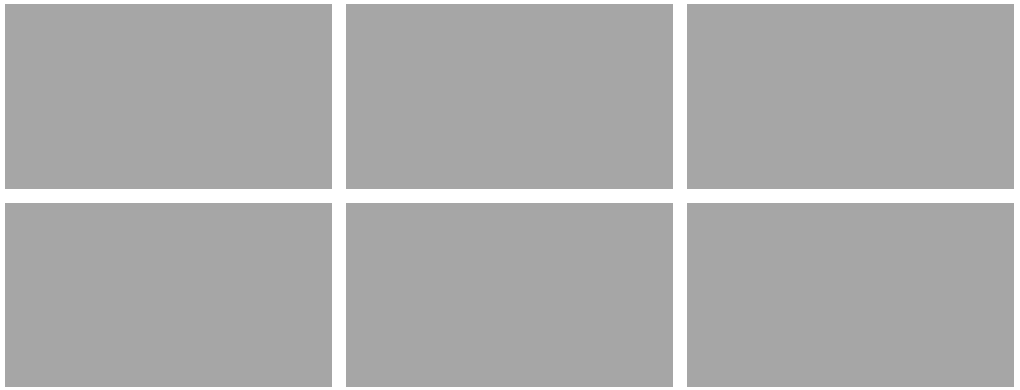

Payphone call needs the Machine voice test from Subway Station.

Context

Themes and Background

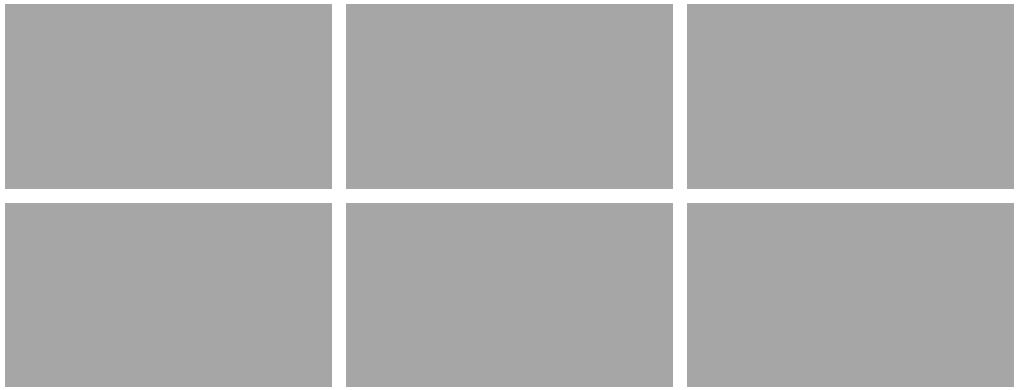

Themes

Exposure and loss: privacy, the cost of being seen, and losing the people you protect.
Principles under pressure: Finch abandons his rules and decides Samaritan must be destroyed.
Tone: quiet dread rising to frantic escape, then grief.

World Setting

Present-day New York watched by two rival artificial super-intelligences. Samaritan sees almost everything; the Machine runs on limited, hidden hardware.
Hired killers from "Temporary Resolutions" and Greer's operatives hunt the team; police can be steered by Samaritan.

Background

Campaign

Finch built the Machine to predict violent crimes. Its rival Samaritan, run by John Greer, now controls the city's surveillance.
Previous level (Sotto Voce): the team hunts a negotiator; Shaw's return leaves a trail Samaritan can follow.

This Level

Samaritan identifies Finch. Elias is killed protecting him, Finch is captured, Root takes a sniper bullet meant for him and dies.
In custody Finch drops his principles and vows to kill Samaritan; the Machine calls him in Root's voice.

Following Levels

Next level (Synecdoche): the team, now without Root, starts its counter-attack on Samaritan. The Machine keeps Root's voice for the rest of the campaign.

Characters

Harold Finch

Role: Playable lead / escort target

Creator of the Machine. Recognised at a café; spends the level evading, then captured. Delivers the interrogation soliloquy.

John Reese

Role: Playable gunfighter

Field operative. Protects Finch at the college office and safe house, then investigates Temporary Resolutions with Fusco.

Root

Role: Playable hacker / escort

The Machine's analog interface. Escapes with Finch from Greer's base and takes Blackwell's bullet.

Sameen Shaw

Role: Playable rear-guard

Deduces her return exposed Finch. Holds off Greer's men so Root and Finch can escape.

Lionel Fusco

Role: Support NPC / playable

Detective. Ambushed with Reese at Temporary Resolutions; brings the news of Root's death.

Carl Elias

Role: Ally NPC

Crime boss. Hides Finch in his tower; killed by a headshot while covering the escape.

John Greer

Role: Antagonist

Samaritan's operator. Wants Finch to work on Samaritan, by force if needed.

Jeff Blackwell

Role: Antagonist / sniper

Hitman who fires on the car from a rooftop, aiming for Finch.

Exploration Guidance

Café: the camera above the counter is the brightest object in the room, pulling the eye to where Finch must look to talk to the Machine.

Safe house: lamps are switched on room by room as the team moves Finch to the garage.

Elias's tower: emergency exit signs and Elias's men at each landing mark the escape route.

Greer's base: the open loading door and daylight lead Root to the car.

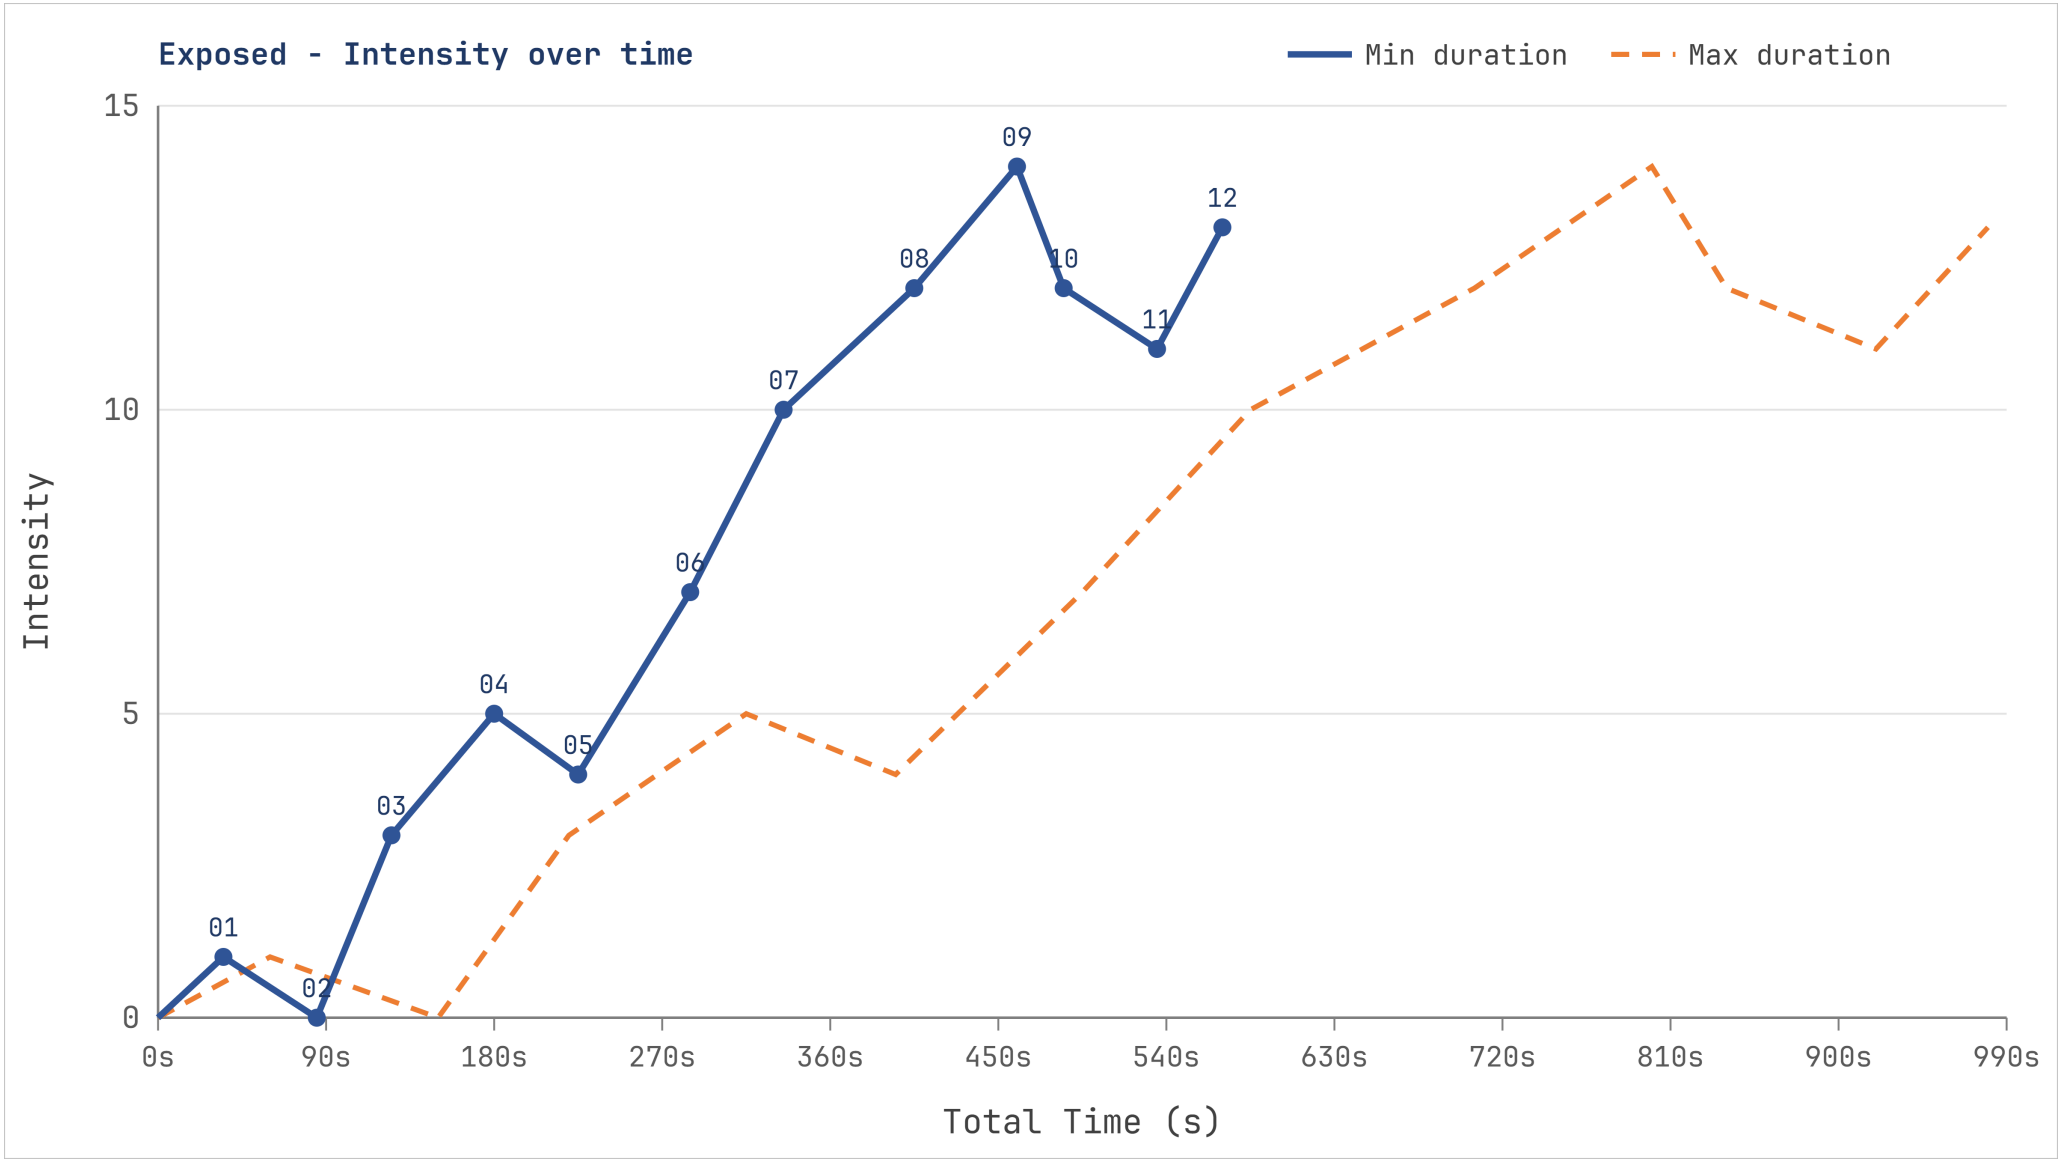

Chase: police lights and closed streets narrow the route towards the roadblock.

Prison: the ringing payphone is the only sound in the corridor and draws Finch to it.

Mood Design

Café at dawn: warm interior, cold street

Elias's Tower: brass, dark wood, low light

Subway: sodium light on wet tiles

Output: three mood boards (café, Elias's Tower, subway) and a colour script for the whole level, from the warm morning café to the cold prison blackout.

Fixed: spaces the Machine holds are lit warm, Samaritan's cold; every location keeps one landmark readable from its entry; night scenes stay readable without a torch.

Builds on it: the walkthrough beats, legends and guidelines 01 and 04 (Appendix C) follow these boards. Still open: Greer's Base has only a rough sketch.

Appendix B - Project Specification

Item	Spec	Info
Character move speed, sprint	400 UU/s walk, 600 UU/s sprint	Finch walks at 260 UU/s because of his limp; escort routes must not need a sprint.
Mantle and vault height	Mantle ≤ 120 UU, vault ≤ 90 UU	Rooftop gaps in 09 stay under 300 UU so the chase never stops for a jump.
Surveillance camera cone	60°, 1800 UU	Cameras are the Machine's eyes: yellow frame when the Machine holds them, red when Samaritan does.
Explosive barrel	Blast radius 450 UU	Red chemical paint and hazard decals give the explosive affordance; keep them lit in night scenes.
Door and corridor width	200 UU (two abreast)	Every escort path fits Finch and his escort side by side.
Cover height	Low 90 UU, high 160 UU	Finch's cover spots (Appendix C, 02) are always high cover.

Appendix C - Applied Guidelines

Index	Name	Brief	Detail
01	Cameras tell the story	Every space shows who is watching it.	Place at least one camera in each player-facing room. Its frame colour (Machine yellow / Samaritan red) is the player's only hint of who controls the space.
02	Finch never fights	No more than 20 s of combat without hard cover for Finch.	Finch cannot shoot. Every battle space has a cover spot within 600 UU of his entry point, and the escort AI waits there. [1]
03	About the empty lot behind the safe house	Heavy objects, vehicles or buildings on the lot would break the space's credibility. 	The lot sits on the subway roof: only 10 m (1000 UU) of fill, 300 UU at its thinnest. It fits a city that forgot the tunnel, but ground this thin could not carry trucks or a building. [2]
04	Night readability	Routes stay readable without a torch.	Each night space keeps one warm light on the critical path and a cold rim light on the exit. [3]
